Final Thoughts: Using the back of this page, answer the following prompt:

North Korea is a country that is interesting to learn about, but comes with complex and dangerous problems for the world to consider. Between everything that we have learned and studied during this unit: reflect on what you have learned, what you feel is most challenging facing the US government regarding North Korea and your overall views on whether you believe North Korea is a true and serious threat to America and her allies. Use complete sentences, be thorough, and show a clear understanding of the complexity of the issue.
